EPIPHYLUMS

Monmonier's Select Epiphyllums

Above appears a section of the rooting frames at Ventura Epiphyllum Gardens. Our Nursery is large and well arranged for the growing of the Epiphyllum. However, many difficulties are encountered in the handling of such a wide assortment of previous releases plus imports and new seedlings, making it impossible to handle all varieties in any one publication.

We have selected plants in each classification. It does not mean we are discontinuing all varieties not included here. After many years of work on imports as well as our own plants it is possible we may find it necessary to discard or replace them by a superior variety. These are the cares of all hybridizers.

VISITORS WELCOME 10 to 12—1 to 5

Nursery hours for visitors are from 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., except by special request. The nursery is closed on Mondays and Tuesdays. When traveling a great distance we advise making an appointment if possible, as our business is mostly shipping.

To reach our gardens drive into Ventura on Main Street to Ventura Avenue. Turn north and travel 17 blocks to McFarlane Drive; turn east and go one block on McFarlane Drive. By Greyhound bus: change at Ventura station to local bus going west on Main Street.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS

WE WISH to express our appreciation and sincere thanks for your good will and patronage. Your cooperation during trying times has made it possible for us to carry on the work. Your orders will receive every consideration.

To reach our gardens, drive into Ventura on Main Street to Ventura Avenue, turn north and travel 17 blocks to McFarlane Drive; turn east on McFarlane for 1 block. By Greyhound bus: Change at Ventura station to local bus going west on Main Street.

Our new family of CHIAPASIAS have advanced our flowering season much earlier. Climatic conditions also contribute to this. Our visitors from Southern California have failed to see many varieties in bloom by failing to realize that our flowering season is always a month earlier than that in the Los Angeles or San Diego area. Remember, our season reaches its top peak in April whereas in other districts it is in May.

Since some varieties bloom early and others late, naturally you cannot expect to see all varieties in bloom on one visit, so plan to make several visits.

ATTENTION NEW CUSTOMERS: Our 1950 catalog will be of interest to you. A limited number are still available at 25¢ each.

ILLUSTRATIONS appearing in Ventura Epiphyllum Gardens catalogs may not be reproduced without the owner's consent.

Mr. Monmonier passed away January 15, 1952. It was impossible to answer all of the many sympathetic cards and comforting letters received during his long illness, so I am taking this means to express the sincere thanks of the family and myself for your kind thoughts and good wishes. It is indeed gratifying and a great comfort to know that our customers are also our friends.

FOREWORD

Bridging the old with the new! In years past, as today, Ventura was known as a flower center. Our mild climate and ocean breeze make it ideal for flower growing. It was the home of Mrs. Theodosia Burr Shepherd who was widely known as one of the best women horticulturists in America. She was the proud owner of a large cactus collection which included the Epiphyllum, or Phyllo-Cactus as the hybrids were known in those days. As far back as 1896 Mrs. Shepherd listed many varieties in her catalogue. Her interest also extended to many other plants. Her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Shepherd Francis, continued in the work after her mother's demise. Mrs. Francis also loves the Epiphyllum family and when the City's progress took over the nursery area these plants were the last to go. It was in her garden in 1920 that I saw my first Epiphyllum blossom and was captivated by its beauty. Many of the early varieties carried by our nursery came from her gardens. We owe much to her generosity. I also wish to thank other friends who have in one way or another contributed to our progress. Mrs. Francis spends many hours in our gardens every Spring enjoying the flowers and marveling at the development of the new hybrids.

Our first catalogue, issued in 1937, was the first catalogue published in America dealing exclusively with Epiphyllums. In 1939 and 1940 we took part in the San Francisco Golden Gate International Exposition. We received Certificates of Awards for our participation and the quality of our exhibit in cut flowers. We also participated in Garden on Parade at the New York World's Fair and were awarded a bronze medal for cut flowers. This was quite a feat because of the long distance.

At the Oakland, California Spring Garden Show in 1942 we displayed cut flowers, corsages made from single and double blossoms, and sprays, for which we received blue ribbons and a cash prize. 100 blossoms a day were sent during the duration of the show. We also have received many Special Ribbon Awards for our displays in the Los Angeles area. In late years I have given up show work due to the heavy demands upon my time.

In June 1952, the Sunset Magazine published an article titled "Orchid Cactus in Miniature" on our Nopalxochia Phyllanthoides crosses, known as the Empress Hybrids and the exquisite Chiapas Nelsonii Hybrids; this being the first published in America. They are truly Epiphyllums in miniature. Naturally, I was most pleased and flattered by this compliment to my hybridization work in this field. My only regret was that my husband did not live to see it.

We will be happy to have all who are interested in Epiphyllums visit our nurseries. Our flowering season is long; our Chiapas hybrids usually starting to flower in mid-March and continuing through most of the flowering season. The height of the season is April, May and June, though many flowers still may be seen in July and August. It is impossible to see all the varieties in bloom in a single visit as they come and go, but new varieties are opening almost every day during the season.

The Ventura Epiphyllum Gardens is one of the largest in America at the present time specializing exclusively in Epiphyllums. A display may be seen at the home gardens, and across the street is the growing and shipping nursery.

We have come more and more to the realization that it is the new developments which contribute to the increasing interest shown in these fantastically beautiful hybrids. In all the hybrids we have seen and grown, we have never found two that were exactly alike. Such variations in sizes and combinations of colors are not found in any other flowering plant. As has been our practice in past years and now, only the best are selected for our catalogue.

On August 23rd I watched a new variety open, an Empress cross—a 3-inch flower in Persian rose and pink orchid. I must have made at least a dozen visits to see the "painted doll" as it opened. What a joy!

With the Lord's help I will continue with the work, making top quality our motto as always. Do not let another season pass without a visit to our gardens. We bid you welcome.

IT'S EASY AND SAFE TO ORDER BY MAIL

Please Read Instructions Carefully

QUOTATIONS: The prices are as low as possible for strictly first grade stock, and for U.S.A. only.

REMITTANCE: All remittances should be made by Post Office, Express Money Order, Check or Bank Draft. We do not ship C.O.D. Do NOT send Currency as we cannot be responsible for same. California customers add 3% sales tax.

MINIMUM ORDER: Free delivery on $3 or more. On less amounts add 50¢. We include a FREE plant on every order of $5 or more. Unrooted cuttings $2.00.

FILLING ORDERS: We make every effort to get plants to you in excellent condition. All plants are well packed with ample root protection. In case of damage in transit, place complaint immediately with local Express Office or Postal Service, and notify us. There are many contingencies to be encountered in growing plants, seeds or cuttings that are dependent on weather and other conditions over which we have no control, therefore we can only guarantee safe delivery. We would appreciate a note from you on the delivery of your plants as to their condition when received. We ship the year around. However, due to the rush of visitors during the flowering season, filling orders at that time may be slightly delayed. To avoid this delay, PLEASE mail your order in early for Spring delivery. Orders sent to cold climates will be shipped after all danger of frost is past.

GIFTS: A reminder to lovers of Epiphyllums. These plants make excellent gifts for Christmas, birthdays, etc. On all orders of a minimum of $3 received from Oct. 15th to Dec. 15th, we take pleasure in also sending YOU a Christmas present!

PLANT SIZES AND PRICES: Prices listed throughout this catalogue are for small plants, unless otherwise specifically mentioned.

SMALL PLANTS: 10- to 12-inch, with or without branches. Should flower the following season. Minimum order $3 sent POSTFREE at catalogue price. Lesser orders add 50¢.

MEDIUM PLANTS: Flowering size, 12- to 23-inch, with 1 or more branches. Should bloom for you with 1 or more flowers. $1.50 to $2.50 (depending on variety) sent express collect.

SPECIMEN FLOWERING PLANTS: 2 to 3 feet, well branched, will bear many flowers. $3 to $5, sent express collect. When ordering flowering size plants, please order early. Plants will be shipped to you after buds are set, and in time for spring flowering. If interested please write.

SUBSTITUTE CHOICE: In the event that we are out of stock of small plants on items you order, if possible we will send larger unrooted cuttings of the variety ordered, at the same price, unless you specify a substitute choice. All unrooted cuttings are wedge-shaped, dipped in hormone rooting powder and names are clearly marked in India ink. If the variety you order is sold out, a substitute variety of equal value can be furnished. Please authorize us to substitute, when you order.

VARIETIES NOT LISTED: Our nursery carries numerous other varieties—so many, in fact, that space forbids listing but a small selection in each catalogue. If you wish others, please make inquiry, as we unquestionably will have them.

NOTE: Numbers in parentheses after names are for the convenience of some of our customers who may have bought plants by number and not by name.

ABBREVIATIONS: Initials after flower names refer to hybridizers. Vass., Louis Vasseur—Cldg., Coolidge—C.K., Curt Knebel—R.W.P., R. W. Poindexter—C.S., C. Steele—F.W., Friend Wegener—G.R., Georgia Russell—Dr. H., Dr. Houghton—P.W., Peggy Williams—T.M.M., Theresa M. Monmonier.

NOPALXOCHIA PHYLLANTHOIDES

(Deutsche Kaiserin)

This is one of the oldest known species of the cascading free-flowering variety (B. & R.). Its true origin is not known. In 1651 it was found growing in Colombia, South America, and was figured by Hernandez in that year. It is also found growing in Mexico as Nopalxochia phyllanthoides, has travelled through many countries for many centuries and been known by many names, but the name that has remained is Deutsche Kaiserin, or German Empress, which was given to it by a German botanist. Thus do we span the ages from the Aztec to the modern European. And while we know this species only from cultivated forms, we do know also that it was used as a parent in making hybrids many generations ago, although in the past we have not found in making hybrids many generations ago, although in the past we have not found many of this size and formation.

Many years ago we chose this lovely lady to be the mother of a new line of hybrids, and today we have many of her children coming into flower. These new Deutsche Kaiserin crosses were made with great consideration given to the retention of the small, graceful flower and compact growth. These hybrids have retained many of her fine qualities, her floriferousness, fine growth and delicate formation, to which have been added fine combinations of colors and greater vigor of growth. These dainty flowers may be enjoyed from the time their buds start forming until in full bloom. They flower over a long period of time and frequently give flowers out of season. We have been well rewarded for our work and patience.

Any of these plants do well in baskets or pots; they are more attractive and graceful when allowed to follow their natural, cascading habits. The plant stems are small and compact; they require more protection from extreme heat and cold than the larger flowering types because of the finer growth. Exposure to extreme cold may cause the plant stems to become mushy; when this occurs cut the stems back to where you have healthy tissue; the wound may be dusted with a Hormone powder and kept dry for a few days. The one thing which is most harmful is allowing the sun to strike a plant that has been exposed to extreme cold; this will cause a burn which will have the appearance of rust; in case of extreme exposure to strong sun, brown spotting or blistering may occur, having the appearance of a disease. Planting instructions for the species and hybrids are the same as for other varieties.

GERMAN EMPRESS SPECIES: Light pink, tubular corolla, with flaring deep rose-pink back petals. Small plants, 50¢.

MONMONIER'S MINIATURES

Theresa M. Monmonier's Empress Hybrid

Beautiful Miniature Flowers and Graceful Plant Growth.
An Exquisite Cut Flower. Prices for Small Plants.

We gave a great deal of study and thought in selecting the varieties to cross for our Empress Hybrids, not only to strive to obtain the finest in formation, but also for hardiness and floriferous qualities.

BALLERINA: Inner petals trumpet shaped, salmon-pink in 3 tones; outer petals darker salmon, beautifully recurved. A full-petaled flower of excellent form. Fast growing; free blooming. 75¢

BAMBI: Exquisite fuchsia color; darker center stripe toning into carmine throat. Inner petals trumpet shaped; deep fuchsia back petals long, recurving, gracefully spiralled. Flowers and growth slightly larger than German Empress. Tremendously popular. $1.00

BELLE ROGERS: Clear all-coral pink 3- to 4-inch flowers; graceful rosette form. Plant growth comparatively heavy. Beautiful, unusual color. $1.50

BETTY CO-ED: Even, sparkling, vivid all-pink; perfect rosette form. Smaller than Rosetta. Small, hardy growth. Free flowering. $1.00

BALLERINA

BUTTERFLY: Shades of brilliant pink similar to Sea Breeze. Flowers are larger with longer outer petals. Free flowering; fast growing. $1.00

BUZZ BOMB: Red-orange with gold striping on tan background. Inner petals form a bell; outer petals erect. Not available at present.

CAROL: Very double phlox-pink variegated with white; center striping of white on all petals. Graceful formation; beautiful carriage. Compact growth. $1.00

CHARMAINE: Clear pink; rose center; small, pointed petals. Fine formation. 3-inch diameter. $1.00

CHIFFONESE: Pink with lilac suffusion throughout. Inner petals wavy, semi-pointed. 3-inch. High lustre. Limited. $1.50

CHIMES: Lavender-pink inner petals form wide cup, crimped on edges; outer petals longer, reflexed. High lustre. Small plant stems. Very graceful. $1.00

DARLENE: Deep pink; scarlet center. Larger than "Gay Senorita" with similar plant growth. $1.00

DRAGONET: Coral to purple with high lustre; throat crimson. Outer petals show prominent white mid-stripe. Shaped like "Sea Breeze." $1.00

DRYAD: Deep rose inner petals; outer petals darker. Color like "Rosetta"; Deutsche Kaiserin form. Firm texture; high lustre. Growth flat and triangular. $1.00

FAIRY-BELL. Magenta to fuchsia; outer petals red. 75¢

FILIGREE: Pink-lilac tones. Lacy pattern and color of this tiny flower are indescribable. Not available at present.

GAY BAGATELLE: Tyrian rose. So much color in so small a flower, the smallest developed so far in this "Rosetta" form and color. Plant very small and compact. $2.50

GAY SENORITA. Pale rose veined with dark rose, blending with scarlet throat. Small and dainty, truly a gay senorita! Deutsche Kaiserin in size and growth, but with broader, rounding petals. $1.00

GYPSY DOODLE: Pink mottled with white; back petals deep pink with round tips. Growth and form like Kaiserin. $1.00

INFANTA: Brilliant orange-red flower, the corolla of which is tubular with flaring back petals. Resembles parent Deutsche Kaiserin in both flower and growth. 2-inch. 75¢

JOYET: Novelty in vivid solferino orchid to purple; Deutsche Kaiserin form and size. Plant growth small, deeply serrated, very hardy. $1.00

JUNE KELLY: Corolla tubular at base, widens out into petals flaring wide at ends. Color deep red; waxy texture; firm form. Very individual flower of Deutsche Kaiserin type. Plant growth small and dark green. $1.00

LITTLE PADRE: The name tells the story. A 3- to 4-inch flower with the pink color and form of the old favorite "Padre." Graceful plant; small growth. $1.00

BETTY CO-ED

PETER PAN: An orange-red Kaiserin cross; rosette type with very double flowers. Larger than Wendy or Tom Thumb. Fine growth. $1.00

PETITE ROSE: Wide funnel-shaped flower with slightly recurved outer petals. Small rose-red flowers. Plant growth deeply serrated. Its profuse bloom and lovely habit

BAMBI

MAGIC WAND: Medium pink with rose throat; flowers similar to "Darlene," borne rather rigidly on small stems. $1.00

MARINKA: Deep red, waxy texture, 3-inch flower. Because of its fine color and form, we have used this variety extensively for corsages. Small plant growth. 50¢

MAY DAY: Persian-rose of even color. Small, very brilliant flowers. Plant stems small. Excellent form. $1.50

MONMONIER'S PINKIE: An all-pink, medium sized Deutsche Kaiserin form. Excellent plant. $1.00

PEGGY O'NEIL. Large rose-pink; perfect Deutsche Kaiserin form. Color deepens on outer petals. Filaments and pistil white. Fine, small plant stems. $1.50

of growth have caused considerable comment. 75¢

PURIFLORA: Pink tones. Inner petals open white, deepen to delicate pink on successive days. Outer petals deeper pink. Buds appear to be white when forming. Plant growth and flower both beautifully formed and give very lacy effect. $1.00

RED GARLAND: Graceful 3-inch crimson with fuchsia base; opens flat; crimped edges. Slightly larger in flower and growth than most Kaiserin hybrids. None available at present.

ROSEBUD: Tiny rose-pink flowers as small as Deutsche Kaiserin, with the exquisite rosebud form which gives this plant its name. Hardy; free flowering, with fine growth like its parent. $1.00. Stock limited.

SEA BREEZE: Shades of coral pink, slightly larger than the above. Form gets away from Deutsche Kaiserin. Bell-shaped corolla; large, erect outer petals of deeper pink. 3-inch. Plant growth fine and small. 75¢

SHIRLEY: Evenly toned bright salmon; splendid Kaiserin form; color not usually found in these small Kaiserin types and is especially attractive. Compact growth. Free flowering. Stock limited. $2.00

SIERRA SUE: (5023) Perfectly formed, trumpet-shaped pink flower slightly larger than the parent Empress; outer petals rose-pink. $1.50

STARLET KAY: China-rose self-colored. This color resembles a watermelon-pink. Plant growth like that of "Red Rosetta." Filaments and pistil a light rose. $1.50

TOM THUMB: Novelty Kaiserin type; orange with darker red veining. 2-inch flowers. Free flowering; fine growth. $1.50

VELVA-SHEEN: Rose-purple. Flowers form perfect rosettes of exceptionally high lustre. Larger than "Gay Bagatelle." Small plant growth. $2.00

WENDY: Oriental red, very charming and the smallest of the red flowers, even smaller than "Tom Thumb." Perfect rosebud form. Plant growth more like Deutsche Kaiserin than "Tom Thumb," which has a very distinctive growth habit. Stock limited. $2.00

CHIAPASIA NELSONII

An Especially Good Bloomer

This species was found in Chiapsis, Mexico, and named from its native locality, to which is added the name of its discoverer, Nelson. At that time it was found growing wild in the mountains at an altitude of 4,000 to 6,000 feet. (Information found in B. & R.)

Chiapasia Nelsonii is an epiphytic; in character resembles the genus Epiphyllum even though it is classed as a genus by itself. The plant is formed of small flat stems slightly notched, sending up canes from its base which subsequently branch out. The plant is a good medium green, enhancing its unusual fern-like grace and delicacy.

Chiapasia Nelsonii is day flowering and an especially good bloomer. When grown under proper conditions it has surprisingly good lasting qualities, although fragile in appearance. The flowers are quite tubular at the base and present a flattened appearance toward the tips resembling a tiny morning glory or lily-like flowers. Five beautifully shaped slightly pointed petals form the corolla with the pistil and stamens extending beyond the petals. The flower measures two inches in diameter, being smaller than the "Deutsche Kaise-rin." The closest definition of its color is a clear exquisite lilac pink of matchless beauty. The buds spiral gently as they open, in keeping with the characteristic gracefulness of the plant.

THERESA M. MONMONIER'S CHIAPASIA NELSONII HYBRIDS

The first cross we made on Chiapasia Nelsonii was Fairybello (Epiphyllum x D. Kaiserin), using Chiapasia Nelsonii as the seed parent. Many varieties have resulted from this cross, since from one seed pod no two plants come exactly alike. Since then, we have made other crosses, but this is only the start, for this line has great possibilities of being extended, since C. Nelsonii is a branch of the Epiphyllum genus.

All varieties are free flowering, bloom early in the spring (March and April) and again in the fall. Early spring flowers have not the depth of color that comes in the autumn bloom. For instance, C. Monmonieri flowers in spring with smooth petals, whereas the later flowers have ruffled edges and a much stronger fuchsia color so that they might almost be taken as sports, which is not the case; these changes are due mainly to thermal conditions.

Also, since they are hybrids, you can look for a variation in petal count from one flower to another, also there may be a noticeable difference in stigma lobes. These changes are insufficient to constitute a "sport," for even the species C. Nelsonii may show a variation in petal count.

These plants require some protection from hot sun and cold, as do all plants of delicate growth; new growth may also be injured by too strong insecticide sprays. However, many of these plants stayed out under lath through the worst winter we have ever experienced, and were not noticeably injured. The hybrids in this case are even hardier to cold than their parent, C. Nelsonii.

C. ANGELS TRUMPET: Indescribable is this exotic fuchsia purple edged flower shading to claret rose, completely striped over a tan background, trumpet formation. Silky texture. Filament orange, pistil bright cerise. Not available.

C. FAYE DUFF: Predominant color is ruby red. Flowers have unusually long lasting qualities. $2.50

C. MARIONETTE: A spectacular lilac pink darkening toward the edges. Throat

lime green. Firm texture and regal carriage add to the beauty of this flower. Tubular at base, it opens into a wide bell. $2.00

C. MONMONIERI: A gem of priceless beauty. Carmine with deep fuchsia border shows considerable veining at times, but the predominating color is fuchsia. Texture silky; trumpet formation. Filaments rose, pistil orange. $2.00

C. MORNING GLORY: Slightly larger than C. Monmonieri. Deep bluish-purple border on inner petals. Red outer petals. Trumpet formation. $3.00

C. NAYADA (Water Nymph): A fantastic flower, the background of which is delicate lavender. Petals have deep lilac border with symmetrical stripes running toward center. Flower forms wide 2½-inch bell; firm texture. Growth heavier than "Marionette." $1.50

C. RUBIET: Also sensational is this ruby red, slightly overtone with fuchsia, and a decided fuchsia throat with the same color running down the flower stem. $3.00

C. RUFUS: Orange predominates, with red sepals. Bell-shaped flower with rounded tips well reflexed. Filaments tinged orange, and pistil orange. This plant was named in honor of "Rufus," the humming-bird who has afforded many happy moments to my husband. $2.50

C. SPRING CHEER: An all pink cerise, with wide bell formation, pointed tips, cerise filament, and bright orange style. New plant growth highly colored cerise. Limited. $3.00

C. TOY: Tiny fuchsia purple with crimson sepals. Much smaller than any so far listed. Profuse bloomer. Counted 200 flowers on large specimen plant and 50 flowers on 3-year plant. Very hardy and fast growing. $2.00

FRUHLING (Spring) (C.K.): Cross of Phyllocactus and Chia. Nelsonii. Red with fuchsia-purple edge. Chiapas type but twice as large. Small cuts. $1.00

MUTATIONS

Pronounced Doubling of Petals

Origination of Theresa

M. Monmonier

★ CRYSANTHUS (T.M.M.): Flowered for the first time in 1941, this variety has undergone many changes through the years. Its progress has been interesting to watch, it is not quite so double as at first, but some fine characteristics persist. Double flower, tones of oriental red. $1.50

★ DOUBLOON (T.M.M.): A double flower of the Chrysanthemum type. Color an unusual reddish purple (Dianthus purple) like a peony. Inner petals one-half inch long, increasing to three inches on the outside. Center peony purple deepening to Dianthus purple on outer petals. Eye closed and filled, showing stigma lobes and anthers. Filament and pistil hardly visible. Plant growth interesting, very much twisted. This variety is very hardy. $1.50

RIOT (Chas. Horn): True chrysanthemum form; 2½-inch inner petals, very purple; outer petals blood red; petals quilled, very double. Spectacular. $1.50

EICHLAMI (Disocactus) B. & R.

This species is a native of Honduras and Guatemala and was introduced to England in 1839, and named for Federico Eichlam of Guatemala. The plant is similar to C. Nelsonii, with a reddish color in the plant itself. "Diso," from the Greek, meaning double.

EICHLAMI: The flower has red outer petals; innermost are violet; flowers freely. It has the same growing habit as that of C. Nelsonii, though the flower is smaller and does not open quite so wide. Style slender and violet colored, stigma lobes white. Opens at night or in the early morning and lasts until the second morning. Like C. Nelsonii it is very rare. Plant stems flat. Small plants $1.00

★ HONEY SUCKLE (T.M.M.): China rose with a suffusion of fuchsia. Filament fuchsia-purple pistil and stamens extend beyond petals. Tubular formation, flattening out at tips. This is a great improvement over the specie, and will be ready for release soon.

RHIPSALIS

These plants are epiphytic and work in nicely with the Epiphyllum as a house plant. Their culture is the same, although their flowers are minute, usually flower freely, and their plants are interesting and of many forms. The species originally came from Jamaica, Mexico, Costa Rica and Brazil.

RHOMBEA. Coppery, high lustre, wavy plant growth.

OBLONGA: Flat, highly colored stems.

PARADOXA: Twisty rope-like stems.

CASSUTHA: Often called the rice plant.

WARMINGIANA: Most popular for its lovely white flowers.

An assortment of 4 rooted cuttings, $1.50 or .50 each.

PSEUDORHIPSALIS

MACRANTHA: The plant resembles the "D. Eichlami" and bears 2-inch yellow star-like flowers, rare. Rooted cuttings. $1.50

CULTURAL INSTRUCTIONS

It is important to remember that although epiphyllums belong to the cactus family, their cultural needs more nearly resemble those of Begonia plants than those of the spiny desert types. They need filtered light, adequate moisture and rich nutriment to grow strong and put forth good crops of rich and prolific flowers.

All epiphytes require a free movement of air. They stand temperatures down to 32° and have survived lower than that. When kept in glasshouses, best temperature is between 45° and 70°. They will not do as well in a hot, dry atmosphere. Do not place plants too near furnace or radiator.

Weather permitting, keep plants outdoors in cool, semi-shaded location. Avoid sudden changes of temperatures, particularly when in bud. Epiphyllums are very easy to grow if you follow certain, simple instructions and the profusion of rainbow-colored blooms will reward your efforts.

CONTAINERS: Clay or glazed pots, wooden containers or dipped cans. These plants do not like rust. When planting, place broken crockery or small rocks on bottom of container for good drainage, follow with slightly moist soil mixture.

REGULAR SOIL MIXTURE: 3 parts well decomposed leafmold (may be supplemented by good garden loam); 1 part coarse sand, spongerock or decomposed granite; 1 part peatmoss; 1 part WELL-ROTTED steer or sheep manure. Soil must be porous at all times. Avoid soggy soil that packs.

The use of peatmoss in the soil mixture is optional, although our own soil mixture always contains it. We find it helps to hold moisture and lessens the frequency of watering. When growing plants indoors, however, cut down on the amount of peatmoss used. We have found it beneficial to add a complete commercial fertilizer in dry form to the potting soil when you mix it. You may secure this in any nursery supply store. Use 1 teaspoon to a 6-inch pot; 2 teaspoons to an 8-inch pot. This will be absorbed slowly and give your plant a well balanced feeding over a longer period of time.

WATERING: Frequency of watering depends on weather conditions and the container they are planted in. Clay pots require more watering. Once or twice a week is the general rule. When weather is extremely hot and dry, a light overhead spray once a day is beneficial, even when in bud. After heavy flowering, cut down on water for about a month but do not allow plants to become completely dry at any time.

POTTING: Plants needing repotting should be taken care of after this rest period. They do not like to be over-potted nor do they flourish as well if pot-bound. We advise a 6-inch pot for a cutting; a 7- to 8-inch pot for small sized plant. In repotting larger plants it is not necessary to remove all soil from roots. If necessary, cut off straggly roots. Withhold water for 3 or 4 days, then keep gently moist until re-established. Plants must be well established before given additional fertilizer.

FERTILIZING: Any good, complete commercial liquid fertilizer. Amount depends on the brand. Give several applications a month apart in late summer and fall. Resume fertilizing in late February, or when danger of frost is over. Discontinue as soon as buds start to form. When buds are well set, fertilize at least once more before coming into flower or even while in flower, particularly on the larger sized plants.

DROPPING OF BUDS. Excessive fertilizing, over-watering and insufficient light may cause buds to drop. Large flowers take more vitality from plant than small ones, consequently the latter bear more flowers. Also, plants often form more buds than they can support and nature will take care of the balancing.

MAKING CUTTINGS: In moderate climates, such as California, cuttings may be made at any time if plants are in good condition, although they will not root as quickly during cold months without extra protection. A good time is about a month after flowering. Second year, mature growth is best. Allow cuttings to callus 2 weeks in a cool, dry place (give more time to very succulent ones). Plant no deeper than 1½ inch. Do not water until roots have started to form. Young plants will be sturdier if not allowed to flower the first year.

GENERAL INFORMATION: Culture, fertilizer, location and temperature have great influence in the modification of colors. A plant rarely produces blooms of full size and color until its second years.

PESTS: Epiphyllums are remarkably free from diseases as a general rule, and to further insure freedom from pests, we sterilize all soil and grow all plants in our own nursery. However, if there are pests on other plants in your garden, they are likely to become infected. Following are brief suggestions for control:

Aphids, mealybugs and other sucking insects: use Nicotine, Pyrethum or Rotenone sprays according to manufacturer's directions.

Scale: use light oil spray. If over 35% oil content, cut strength to half. Do not apply during hottest part of day.

Fungus: use copper sulphate spray half strength or less. Follow manufacturer's directions as to frequency of application.

EPIPHYLLUM SPECIES

EPIPHYLLUM species are found growing all the way from Mexico through Argentina, Panama, Venezuela, Trinidad, Brazil and Ecuador. The majority are night-blooming. In growth they resemble some of today's hybrids. In the tropics Epiphyllums and Orchids grow side by side in the hollow of trees and under trees or wherever they have filtered sunlight, moisture, rich nutriment and good drainage.

These original Epiphyllums have not the magnificent color found in today's hybrids, many of which are crosses within the genus Epiphyllum. In "Cactaceae," written by Britton and Rose, and published by the Carnegie Institute of Washington under "Epiphyllanae," they recognize nine genera which are diverse in both form and flower. While apparently not very closely related in themselves, they are still not too closely related to any other genera.

ANGULIGER: Small white flower; outer petals brown; late bloomer; fragrant; nocturnal. Stems deeply serrated. 50¢

COOPERII: Large white, inner petals wavy; outer petals yellow. Flowers form at base of plant; day flowering. 50¢

CRENATUM: Extra pure white; 6-inch cup-shaped; slender growth; day flowering. 50¢

HELIOCEREUS CINNABARINUS. Small 2-inch scarlet; triangular, thorny stems; day flowering. Blooms in the fall. 50¢

HOKKERII: Large white; flat stems; tall growing; day flowering. One of the oldest known species which is day flowering. 50¢

LATIFRONS syn. OXYPETALUM: White flower with long, curving tube; very fragrant; night flowering. (Known to many as "Night Blooming Cereus.") 50¢

STRICTUM: Small white; vivid crimson pistil; narrow petals; stems slightly serrated. Opens late afternoon and lasts until following noon. 50¢

STENOPETLUM: White semi-cupped flower. Bright cerise pistil. Stigma lobes yellow. 50¢

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS ROOT YOUR OWN

Collection No. 602

6 unrooted cuttings, OUR SELECTION, all named, large flowering varieties, post-paid, $1.50

CHOICE SMALL BASKET TYPE

Collection No. 600

These plants are very popular because of their free-flowering habit, compact growth and delicate form.

5 small plants, OUR SELECTION, post-paid, $2.50

BEGINNER'S COLLECTION

Collection No. 603

Select, named, large flowering varieties, OUR SELECTION, 6 small plants, post-paid, $2.50

RAINBOW COLLECTION

Collection No. 604

OUR SELECTION, 4 flowering plants, postpaid, $8.50.

If possible, size will be 14 to 23 inches. Order must be in early for Spring delivery. Selection of budding plants must be left to us, due to fact they must be shipped when buds are set. This offer good the year around. We have been shipping this size for many years and can highly recommend them. You may specify the color you want or send us a list of varieties you have so we will not duplicate.

SPECIMEN PLANTS

Special prices on specimen plants may be had at the nursery during flowering season. There are hundreds of plants to select from. You will note a slight increase on the minimum orders due to the higher rates in mailing.

Under our general list only, customers may buy either small plants or unrooted cuttings. See Page 13 for details of savings to be made on purchase of unrooted cuttings.
